At Thomas Keble, we value vocational courses to support individual students in order to personalise their learning experience but all of our students study a core of at least 8 full GCSEs with the vast majority studying for 9 or 10 GCSE subjects.

*Expected progress refers to national expectation for students to make 3 levels of progress from the levels they achieve at the end of Key Stage 2. Students are deemed to exceed this if they achieve 4 or more levels of progress.

** Figures for percentages exceeding expected progress in English and Maths are not currently available nationally, broken down by gender. However, it is a key measure at Thomas Keble which we use to challenge the individual child.
